

THE SPEAKER

The Early Childhood Direction Center is proud to present:

Susan Cuoccio, M.S.Ed.

Ms. Cuoccio, earned a master's degree in special education, with a concentration in autism. She works as an Autism Consultant, Early Intervention Ongoing Service Coordinator, Parent Trainer, Adjunct professor and Special Education Teacher. In addition she has consulted for school districts and private schools and has presented various workshops for both parents and professionals

Workshop Development by:

Susan Cuoccio, Beacon Therapy, LLC

ECDC: The Right Direction

The ECDC provides information and confidential referrals that link families and their children to: infant and preschool programs and services; respite and recreation programs; support groups and counseling; medical services and financial support. The ECDC also provides ongoing community training programs to both parents and professionals.

Are you looking for a workshop to be conducted at your site for staff development or for your families?

Contact our office to find out more about tailoring a workshop to your organization's needs.

Queens Early Childhood Direction Center (ECDC)

Catherine Warkala, Coordinator;
Grant Recipient, NYS Education Department

81-15 164 St. Jamaica, NY 11432
Phone: (718) 215-1299

Fax: (718) 969-9149

The QUEENS EARLY CHILDHOOD DIRECTION CENTER

PRESENTS

FREE WORKSHOPS

FALL

2017

For all early childhood and preschool special education programs

Register early – space is limited!
Each participant will receive a Certificate of Completion at the end of each workshop attended

WORKSHOPS FOR PROFESSIONALS

Engineering the Visual Classroom

In this workshop participants will be given suggestions on classroom arrangement to engage and assist young children in the development of intellectual, emotional, physical and language skills.

October 4, 2017 9:30-12:00

Measuring What Matters-Observation and Data Collection in the Classroom

This workshop will address various methods of documenting what is observed before and after an intervention.

October 11, 2017 9:30-12:00

Helping Early Childhood Educators Work with Challenging Behaviors

This workshop will introduce strategies on how to focus on children's positive interactions rather than their distracting behavior.

November 1, 2017 12:30-3:00

Techniques for Teaching Educational Concepts

This workshop will address and explain various ways to teach basic skills using methods such as; task analysis, chaining, scaffolding and others.

December 6, 2017 9:30-12:00

Who should attend: Teachers, paraprofessionals, clinicians, social workers and anyone who works with young children.

WORKSHOPS FOR PARENTS!

How to Understand the Meaning of Your Child's Challenging Behavior

Dealing with challenging behavior in preschool children can be a daunting task, but you can learn positive coping strategies here.

November 1, 10:00 - 12:00 PM

Who should attend: Parents, guardians or family members

Special fliers that introduce workshops to parents will be made available by the ECDC

Workshops may be cancelled due to insufficient registration

FINDING THE WORKSHOPS

All workshops for FALL 2017 will be held at:

Queens Centers for Progress
Natalie Katz Rogers Training and Treatment Center

81-15 164 Street
Jamaica, NY 11432

Directions to this site are available in this mailing or by calling the Queens Early Childhood Direction Center.

TO REGISTER

Call 718 215-1299

The Queens Early Childhood
Direction Center (ECDC)

Website: www.ecdcqueens.org